ROAD WIDENING AND EXIT TO M11 PLAN IS UNVEILED

County scheme met with Labour calls for town bypass

ALL ABOUT THE BASS: Cllr Bass launches the consultations for junction 7a

William Mata

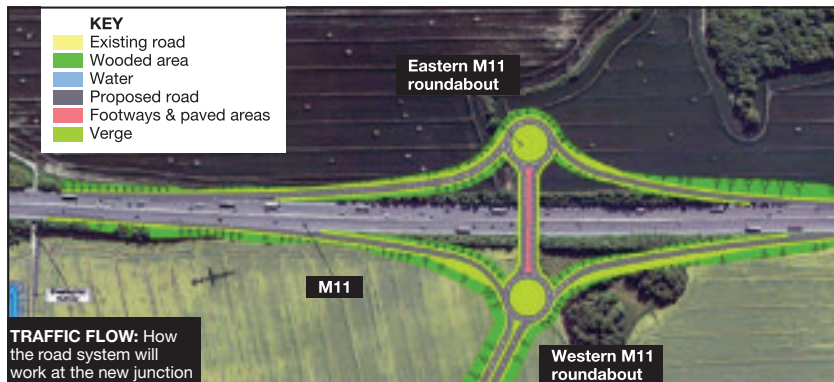

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

A COUNTRY road will be turned into a three-lane carriageway under plans to create a new M11 junction at Harlow.

A new roundabout will also be built to cope with the expected influx of traffic when the new motorway link is completed in 2021.

At a press conference held yesterday (Wednesday), Essex county councillor Rodney Bass said investment in the town's road network and infrastructure was necessary to make the most of the town's opportunities.

"It is a big change but this is essential to provide homes and jobs for future generations," he said. "I don't think it's just moving cars from one end of town to another, it is providing additional links between Harlow and the M11."

TRAFFIC FLOW: How the road system will work at the new junction

Cllr Bass, cabinet member for infrastructure, argued that Gilden Way in Old Harlow – currently classified as a B road – would have to be widened after traffic surveys predicted a 71 per cent increase in traffic using the stretch of road.

A new third lane is planned for traffic entering the town and will be constructed within the highway's boundaries or on land owned by the county council.

The proposals have already angered residents of Old Harlow and Church Langley who have voiced fears over safety and noise. The county council said it had attempted to address those complaints by lowering the speed limit from 60mph to 40mph along Gilden Way and Sheering Road.

Access

There will also be improvements to the footway for pedestrians and cyclists, new street lighting and pedestrian road crossings while access for heavy goods vehicles will be restricted.

The proposed new roundabout will be located on Sheering Road. County Hall also carried out an environmental assessment which concluded the overall impact of the project was small enough to be justified.

Cllr Bass said: "Today's proposals have addressed people's reservations but we will never entirely satisfy everyone."

"We are not talking about if there should be a connection to the M11 as we firmly believe that junction 7a on the M11 should be constructed."

However, he would not be drawn on the subject of a northern bypass. He said: "I cannot immediately make a case to justify the Harlow

WRONG TURN: The offending road sign

Motorists sent wrong way by new avenue sign

RED-faced council officials have apologised after a new road sign pointed motorists heading for Harlow town centre in the opposite direction.

Drivers unfamiliar with the road layout would be left scratching their heads if they followed the directions to the town centre, Terminus Street and The Water Gardens.

For the large sign – which was recently erected in First Avenue on the approach to the roundabout junction with Velizy Avenue, Fourth Avenue and Fifth Avenue – informs drivers travelling west along First Avenue to turn right to access the shopping areas instead of left.

An Essex County Council spokesman said on Tuesday: "We are sorry for this mistake. In replacing a smaller, separate sign with more information on this larger sign, the new information was positioned incorrectly."

"We will be reinstalling the old sign, which includes the correct directions, until a replacement is ready."

The sign was replaced yesterday (Wednesday).

A SIX-week consultation over plans by Essex County Council to increase fares on some of its bus services, including a number of routes in Harlow, is under way.

County Hall, which has to find £1m worth of savings every year until 2019, is proposing rises of about five per cent on a number of its non-commercial services for the next three years – equivalent to about 10p per ticket.

The proposals affect 75 non-commercial bus services operated under contract to the authority. Fares on these services have remained the same for six years and as a result are now out of step with many commercial fares by as much as 25 per cent.

The consultation, which runs until June 17, will give passengers affected by the proposals the opportunity to have their say.

County councillor Eddie Johnson, who represents the Harlow South East division at County Hall and serves as cabinet member for highways and transport delivery, said: "The council needs to save £1m a week every week for the next four years. This means reviewing how we provide services and how we can increase income to support important services within our communities."

"We need to bring our bus fares up to date and more in line with commercial operators. I hope that people will use our consultation to let us have their views about how any increase could affect them."

If approved, the first increase would be introduced later this summer, with further rises planned for April next year and then again in April 2018.

After that, any rise would be linked to the rate of inflation.

Increases would apply to adult and child single and return tickets, the Day Villager and 10/20 Journey multi-journey tickets. It would not affect people who use their concessionary bus pass to travel.

Air ambulance response cars 'on call' 24/7

ESSEX & Herts Air Ambulance Trust is to extend the use of its rapid response vehicles to introduce a round-the-clock seven-day week service.

The Helicopter Emergency Medical Service currently operates seven days a week from 7am-9pm or sunset, whichever occurs first. The extended service will see greater use of road vehicles which will operate into the night, initially for two nights, from the North Weald airbase.

The vehicles, which are used to transport a critical care paramedic and pre-hospital care doctor, carry the same life-saving equipment as the helicopters.

They will continue to be used when the helicopters are grounded due to bad weather or unplanned maintenance.

EHAAT chairman Rob Forsyth said: "It's thanks to all our supporters that we are in a position to extend our service and provide ever more advanced clinical care to the people of Essex and Hertfordshire."

"These improvements won't happen overnight but our decision sets the wheels in motion to work towards a 24/7 clinical service."

Work will now begin to phase in the extended service later this year.

Leaving your dog alone in a car can have fatal consequences

THE beautiful weather we have been experiencing over the past week brings a whole new set of challenges for the RSPCA.

Please remember that dogs can die in hot cars so never leave your's alone in a car on a warm day. And if you see a dog in distress in a hot car, dial 999.

Many people still believe it's okay to leave a dog in a car if the windows are left open or they are parked in the shade, but the truth is it is still a very dangerous situation for a dog.

A car can become as hot as an oven very quickly, even when it doesn't feel that warm. When it's 22C degrees in a car it can reach an unbearable 47C degrees within the hour.

In an emergency we may not be able to attend quickly enough and with no powers of entry we would need police assistance at such an incident. Don't be afraid to dial 999; the police will inform us if animal welfare assistance is required.

If the situation becomes critical for the dog and the police are too far away or unable to attend, many people's instinct will be to break into the car to free the dog.

If you decide to do this, please be aware that without proper justification this could be classed as criminal damage and, potentially, you may need to defend your actions in court.

Make sure you tell the police what you intend to do and why, and take images/footage of the dog and the names and numbers of witnesses to the incident.

■ Unfortunately at this time of year we also see an influx of unwanted cats and kittens.

Pictured above is Paige. She had been straying for many months and became so matted she had to be shaved. She is extremely beautiful and looking for a new home with lots of TLC.

PUBLIC EXHIBITION: Public Health England plans unveiled

£400m science complex will be learning hub too

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

MOCK laboratories and exhibition spaces feature in multi-million proposals for a Public Health Science Hub in Harlow.

More details about the £400m project have been released as part of a three-day public exhibition being held in Science Alive at Harlow Leisurezone this week.

Head of external community engagement Michael Beard said: "Residents can help shape the plan. If there's an overwhelming feeling about something then it will get some serious consideration. We want to make sure that every person in Harlow has got an opportunity to understand the plans, to see them, and to feedback on them. People will help us to shape it."

Excellence

The proposals will involve redeveloping the vacant GSK site at the New Frontiers Science Park to create a centre of excellence for research, health improvement and protection.

The state-of-the-art science research facilities will bring together world renowned scientists to work in a single integrated campus.

Science hub programme director Tim Harry said: "Public Health England was formed in 2013 and it brought together around 100 small and large organisations

THE FUTURE: An artist's vision of the new site involved in public health. The idea was to get everyone together to be more effective."

PHE has a broad remit from tackling smoking and obesity to responding to public health emergencies like swine flu.

Mr Beard said: "We affect everybody's life. If you had a room full of 300 people and sit down those who have been affected by this, this and this, very soon everybody would be sat down. In a way it's us getting that message across."

The hub will be the first time in England that all national public health functions have been located together in one.

Mr Harry added: "We are the lead organisation in public health so the partnerships we're involved in are NHS, local authorities, academic institutes, and also we'll work very closely with Cambridge so if you look at where research starts they're right at the front end and what often we'll do is pick up the research they're doing and actually make it into something that you can utilise in the real world."

Under the outline plans some of the former GSK buildings will remain, others will be modified and some buildings will be knocked down and rebuilt.

The proposed science hub will also bring science to the community with mock laboratories for students and exhibitions for the public.

"While there are the security aspects we really want the site to be a quality place and part of that is around the landscaping. We want it to be a green site more than perhaps what it is today.

Enhance

"We want to build on what's there and enhance it," added Mr Harry.

The Science Hub is expected to be fully operational by 2024 but it will be a phased approach.

The public exhibition is being held from 3pm to 8pm on Thursday, May 12 and Friday, May 13 as well as from 10am to 1pm on Saturday May 14.

It is the first in a series of events being planned before PHE submits a planning application.

Those attending will have the opportunity to talk to the PHE team working on the Science Hub Programme as well as the architects who will be presenting their proposals. A feedback form will be available at both the event and online at www.gov.uk/phe/harlow.

north bypass. Every scheme has to have a business case. There are so many uncertainties, we don't know what the view of Hertfordshire County Council is entirely as this will concern them.

"Until this crystallises it's not possible to see how and whether that would be done."

Harlow county councillor Mike Danvers accused Cllr Bass of launching the consultation behind closed doors and said Labour members of Harlow Council had a better alternative to the plan.

Cllr Danvers said: "There are alternatives to junction 7a which would be cheaper and easier. It is also disappointing Cllr Bass is not considering the bypass as I think that is what is really needed."

Cllr Bass responded: "Cllr Danvers is going over old ground and frankly we're not going to take any notice. We're going to take notice of residents' concerns. We will try and mitigate this scheme to the extent that we can."

Consultations, including a series of public exhibitions, will run until Wednesday, July 6. There will also be an opportunity for residents to take part in an online forum.

In brief

Attack injuries life-threatening

HARLOW: A man has been charged with attempted murder following an incident in Harlow in which life-threatening injuries were inflicted.

Police were called to the Potters Field area on Friday afternoon following reports that a man in his 50s had been found with serious head injuries.

He was taken to Addenbrookes Hospital at Cambridge where he is being treated for a fractured skull and eye socket and a bleed to the brain. His condition was described as critical but stable.

On Saturday Fabio Poma, 29, of Potters Field, Harlow, was charged with attempted murder and appeared before magistrates in Chelmsford on Monday.

He was remanded in custody to Crown Court next month.

Assault appeal

HARLOW: A woman has been charged with causing grievous bodily harm following an assault on a man in Harlow last week.

The incident is alleged to have taken place in Copshall Close last Tuesday afternoon.

Unemployed Kayleigh Blunnie, 30, of Shawbridge, Harlow, appeared at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court on Thursday charged with GBH. No plea was entered and she was remanded in custody to Chelmsford Crown Court on June 2.

Meanwhile, police have appeal for witnesses to the incident to contact PC Dawn Shearing at Harlow police station on the Essex Police non-emergency 101 number.

Burglary accused

HARLOW: Two men have appeared in court charged with a burglary in Harlow.

Mark Livet, 30, of Elizabeth Way, Harlow, and Thomas Evans, 30, of Chingford Lane, Woodford Green, were arrested in Quarry Spring on Monday after police were alerted to a burglary at a property in Thurstans 40 minutes earlier. Each faced one charge of burglary at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court yesterday (Wednesday).

Crane driver saved the day

SIR, I refer to the letter and photo headlined 'No space for pedestrians' in last week's Star. I am the lady on the mobility scooter in the picture.

I did indeed reach this huge vehicle which was blocking my way, with the exception of a narrow grass pathway right next to the kerb and sloping down towards the busy road.

I am 96 years old and this was a scary feeling. I sat there quite perplexed for a few minutes but managed to catch the attention of the crane operator who came down and very kindly helped me.

He stood in the road and guided me along the narrow path just to make sure I didn't topple into the path of oncoming traffic.

I agree that the arrangements for pedestrians, scooter riders or parents with buggies was far from ideal in that situation and in future whoever makes these arrangements should have a rethink. But I cannot fault the politeness and kindness of the driver of that vehicle who saved the day for me.

Mrs H. Tarry

EU exit can be risk free

SIR, Stan Newens is totally wrong in the assumptions he makes in the penultimate paragraph of his letter concerning the EU (Star, April 21).

There is no automatic penalty for leaving the EU unless doing so is badly handled by the politicians involved.

I would refer Mr Newens, and everyone sufficiently interested in the truth, to The Market Solution, a comprehensive publication from FLEXCIT which shows that an ordinary exit is plausible and practical and can be largely risk free.

This publication describes an exit plan which is accurate, honest and pragmatic. It looks at Brexit in great depth, showing that by leaving the EU we would not be ending a relationship but simply travelling separately.

Travelling separately would be immensely beneficial to the UK and would also finally put right, to some extent, the fact that our original entry was illegal and subsequently proved as treason.

■ Robins are a bird normally associated with winter but this pair were photographed just recently by two Star readers. The one on top is a regular visitor to the garden at the home of Brian Gleeson in Spencers Croft, while the photo below was taken by Anne Small, of Penhurst, Old Harlow. "We have had a nesting box in our garden for many years which has never interested our robin visitors," she writes. "A couple of weeks ago my husband went along the path at the side of our house to get a flowerpot in which to plant some seeds and a robin flew out of one of the pots. Inside he discovered a nest with four baby robins in it. Such a wonderful and unexpected surprise."

■ If you have a photo you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to see featured in the Star, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to star@hertssexnews.co.uk. Please include your name and address.

The lies and obfuscation being used to influence us to vote remain are not worthy of the importance of the issue and I implore Mr Newens to establish his facts before speaking out.

R.G. Beale

Don't listen to doom-mongers

SIR, I am sure the majority of the population are weighing up the pros and cons of remaining or leaving Europe.

Stan Newens enters the arena with more doom-laden forecasts derived from looking into a crystal ball but his predications are just that. Just as we have seen over the past five-six years how George Osborne has attempted to control the finances of the UK, he nor any other Chancellor can predict political upheaval in the world, the fluctuating costs of raw materials and regional hostilities that have to be taken into consideration in running a micro economy.

Whatever the doom-mongers throw at us ordinary people, they fail to grasp that this country has been through a lot of political upheaval and threats to our democracy.

The Nazis came close to a success were it not for the resolve of this country's population who pulled together to combat that evil threat.

Since that war this country has led or been involved in major regional campaigns, not all successful or politically correct, to combat and overthrow evil.

I am amused by the rhetoric the doom-mongers come up in forecasting the impact of this country pulling out of Europe. As Phillip Powell points out (Letters, April 14), the recent EU booklet overseen by Downing Street has flawed predictions. No one can predict the future and as we have seen from the end of the Second World War, nobody could predict the events that were to unfold in the Middle East nor the economic development of countries such as China or India. Even the mass population movement across Europe could not have been predicted.

If all these could have been predicted then our lives today would be very different.

All too often we hear and read about the long arm and red tape of Brussels that has attempted, and in many cases achieved, a change in our way of life in this country. Metrifaction of buying fruit, health and safety, road signs, fish quotas, red tape surrounding small businesses employment and human rights ... the list goes on. But this is the tip of the iceberg.

What the doom-mongers of exiting Europe fail to tell us is that remaining in Europe is almost an irreversible decision. Once Brussels has us in their sights they will achieve what Hitler failed to do and invade our democracy and control our English way of life forever.

So much for Tory slogans

SIR, A few months ago Robert Halfon made an attempt to rebrand the Conservative Party. He thought it should be renamed the Workers' Party.

I'm sure there were many like me who found the suggestion both ludicrous and deeply offensive.

Here was the Tory party hitting the poor and disadvantaged in our society harder by far than any previous post-war government and claiming to be doing it in the name of the workers. Is there no end to Tory hypocrisy?

The answer is no and it came from none other than their very own Iain Duncan Smith, himself one of the most Draconian secretaries of state for work and pensions this country has ever produced.

Even he could no longer stomach the economic hardships George Osborne's welfare reforms were causing those we should be helping the most.

Then came the Panama Papers and the subsequent disclosure of top Tories' incomes. These are men who have never known economic hardship of any kind, never known what it's like to struggle to make ends meet. These are the men inflicting austerity on the rest of us.

The Big Society, We're All In It Together, One Nation Conservatism and, of course, the Workers' Party - all dead in the water.

I wonder what rebranding exercise Mr Halfon has got up his sleeve for us next. Whatever it is, I do hope the electorate won't be fooled by it.

Litter bins not fit for purpose

SIR, When I went to Harlow Town Park on bank holiday Monday with my family I found the larger metal mesh litter bins have been replaced with silly little bins. These were overflowing with rubbish which was blowing everywhere.

What is it with Harlow Council and its love of silly little bins which are not fit for purpose? I thought they would have learned from the tiny silver metal ones they put in near the Water Gardens.

Mark Sturman

Garden is not a waste dump

SIR, I am absolutely disgusted with the policy of dumping cut grass in heaps on communal land around Harlow.

One of these areas is right outside my bungalow which is among accommodation for the elderly. My family and I work hard to keep my front garden neat and tidy. I do not want wet, smelly, slimy green waste spoiling our hard work.

My neighbours all agree that if Kier can dump heaps of grass, they should be allowed to do the same without being fined for flytipping. Can you imagine the state of our town by the end of the summer?

I have approached two councillors with no response and also contacted my housing officer and Contact Harlow but I have had no satisfactory replies.

The council should be ashamed about this policy.

Demand for bus service

SIR, The other day I contacted Arriva asking if it would be possible to have a regular bus service to the retail parks in Harlow as they have a lot of new stores up there that can only be accessed by car.

The reply I received was it would not be profitable. That might have been the case a few years ago but with Dunelm, HomeSense, Hobbycraft, The Range, new restaurants and the cinema - along with the fact the M&S has gone from the town centre - I think there is a call for a service.

Even if they do a slight detour with the Bishop's Stortford buses, people would surely use it. I would be interested to see if other Star readers agree.

Lesley Templeman
via email

Not everyone has a car

SIR, We recently had a change to our local bus services in Harlow and for this we are very grateful.

However, there is one problem. We had a bus in The Stow which no longer runs. Why?

In Potter Street there are quite a few elderly people who can no longer get to the GP surgery at Nuffield House or the Aldi supermarket unless they go into the town centre and out again to The Stow, which is very inconvenient.

The bus that used to serve The Stow now goes along a dual carriageway with no bus stops. Why was this not thought about when rescheduling the routes?

Not everyone has a car and those of us on a pension cannot afford a taxi. Please bring our Stow bus back.

Potholes are a real danger

SIR, Can I draw attention to the many potholes in our roads. It's about time something was done about them.

The road along Harlow Common is bad, as are other roads, so for everyone's safety can we get them repaired?

I have a right to my opinion

SIR, In response to the letter from Gayle Clarke who said I had no common sense or respect for the elderly (Star, May 5), I certainly do. I am elderly myself.

MP praises town's air cadets during visit to awards evening

AWARDS were presented to members of Harlow Air Cadet Squadron when it held its annual open evening for family and friends.

Town MP Robert Halfon was invited to present certificates and awards to cadets who had completed a number of courses.

Mr Halfon was given a tour of the squadron's base in Old Road, Old Harlow, and watched as cadets took part in a number of demonstrations including first aid training, flight simulation and camping.

The cadet band also performed for the enjoyment of the visitors.

"It was a pleasure meeting so many air cadets and their parents at the open evening," Mr Halfon said afterwards. "They are doing a brilliant job and I cannot thank the staff enough for all their efforts in planning this evening."

"The training the air cadets go through is very important and I am proud that the local squadron will be celebrating their 60th anniversary next year."

He added: "I met some inspirational young people who plan to go on to be engineers and pilots in the RAF. It is great to see Harlow's next generation being so involved in the community."

There are currently 35 cadets affiliated to the squadron. Meeting are held on Mondays and Fridays from 7.30-9.30pm.

Trust to cut jobs in bid to save money

School funding is becoming 'increasingly limited'

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

AN academy trust with two schools in Harlow is shedding more than 30 jobs as funding becomes "increasingly limited".

The Academy Transformation Trust (ATT) sponsors Mark Hall Academy in First Avenue and Kingsmoor Academy in Ployters Road.

It told staff across its 20 academies nationwide on Thursday that 32 support staff roles were at risk and affect 108 employees.

But the Star was told this week that up to 10 jobs could be at risk at Harlow schools although this has not been confirmed by the trust.

Chief executive Ian Cleland said the trust will look to deliver human resources, finance and site management on a regional - more cost-effective - basis.

"We take our duty to provide the very best education for each of our pupils very seriously and this must always be our first priority," he said.

But a joint statement released on behalf of headteachers, teachers and support unions branded the proposals "ill-thought out" with "significant flaws".

It said: "The financial case presented by ATT included questionable assumptions, for example about school funding in the 2017/18 school year when the government has yet to announce its full proposals."

"The joint unions have serious questions about the validity of some of the financial assumptions."

Improvement

Last year, Mark Hall Academy received praise for a significant improvement in results while Kingsmoor Academy still requires improvement despite making positive changes.

Mr Cleland said: "All education providers have a duty to spend public money responsibly and achieve value for money and ATT is not alone in this."

"These challenges are being faced by schools, academies and multi-academy trusts across the country."

"As education funding is becoming increasingly limited, we must focus as much of our funding as possible on education (ie, teaching and academy improvement staff) and on ensuring that our academies are operating as efficiently as possible."

He added: "I must stress that this is the start of a consultation process and I would like to reassure staff, principals and local governing bodies throughout the trust that we want to hear their views and we are keen for each of you to make an active contribution to this process."

"We have been communicating closely with trade unions for several months and we will continue to work with them throughout this process on a positive outcome."

"We recognise that this is a difficult time for many of our staff. We are working to minimise job losses wherever possible and we are making every effort to support staff through these changes."

On Friday, the Government announced that it would not force all schools to become academies, a decision which has been welcomed by Essex County Council which is the local education authority.

Cllr Ray Gooding, the council's cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, said: "We have made some fantastic progress in Essex in recent years and remain committed to ensuring all pupils receive the best possible education."

Foodbank reports a drop in the number of referrals

THE number of people referred to Harlow Foodbank has fallen during the past year.

Figures for the 12 months ending in March show that 2,744 people in the town used the service compared to 3,133 the previous year.

In its end-of-year report, the Michael Roberts Charitable Trust which runs the foodbank said the main reasons for referral were benefit delays and changes (38 per cent), low income (17 per cent) and domestic violence (eight per cent).

Gary Knott, director of community services for the Michael Roberts Charitable Trust which runs the foodbank, said: "We have seen a slight decline in people being referred this year."

"We are aware, however, that some frontline agencies have had to reduce their services due to budget cuts or planned closures, which does have an impact on referrals."

"We have also introduced the Bounty Club, a fresh food service which picks up surplus fresh food from local companies and redistributes it back into the community. This may help reduce the number of people coming direct to the foodbank for support."

Working in partnership with Safer Places and Family Mosaic, the foodbank also provides toiletries, washing powder nappies and hygiene products, and supplies cereal, bread, jam and juice to breakfast clubs at 10 primary schools.

Pair escape serious injury after car flips

TWO people walked away from the wreckage of the car in which they were travelling after it ended up on its roof.

The vehicle was being driven between Harlow and Roydon when it is believed it struck a kerb, overturned and ended up in the garden of a house in Roydon Road on Friday.

Police said the driver and passenger, neither of whom were wearing seatbelts, were "extremely lucky" to walk away from the wreckage without suffering serious injuries.

In brief

Raising awareness about dementia

HARLOW: A charity which offers support to be people with dementia and their families will be marking Dementia Awareness Week.

The Alzheimer's Society in West Essex will be setting up a stand in the foyer at Princess Alexandra Hospital from 9.30am-3pm on Monday, at the B&Q store at The Oaks retail park and Asda in The Water Gardens from 10am-3pm on Wednesday and at the Tesco store in Church Langley on Thursday from 9.30am-3pm.

Services manager Marion Howell said: "By openly talking about dementia we hope to tackle the myths and misunderstandings about the illness.

"By talking about your worries and concerns about your memory and getting information and support, the sooner you can get the right treatment, support and advice to tackle it.

"Alzheimer's Society is here for anyone affected and there are lots of ways we can help."

Cash for sanctuary

HARLOW: Members of Harlow Flower Club raised almost £100 for the Remus Memorial Horse Sanctuary during the recent charity evening.

A representative of the sanctuary, which is based in Ingatesstone, was invited to the meeting to give a talk on the work it does to help animals which have suffered physical or mental abuse.

New members are welcome to attend the club's monthly meetings which are held at the New Life Christian Fellowship Church in Purford Green, starting at 7.30pm.

The next meetings will take place today (Thursday), June 9 and July 14.

Kids' holiday disco

HARLOW: Youngsters up to the age of 16 can enjoy the spring bank holiday at a disco in aid of the charity Phab Kids.

The event will be held at the Paringdon Sports and Social Club, in Paringdon Road, from 4-7pm on Monday, May 30.

As well as a DJ, there will be a dance display, games and a bouncy castle.

Entry cost £3.50 and tickets are available by calling Sarah Medlock on 07958 328193.

ELECTIONS: No change at Civic Centre as parties retain the seats

Labour retains control of as party polls better than

Gemma Gardner and William Mata

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

LABOUR has retained its slender majority on Harlow Council in the party's first big test since last year's General Election.

The authority has a long history of Labour control, with the party having had an overall majority from 1973 until 2003.

The Conservative group ran the council for four years until 2012 when Labour regained its majority.

Before Thursday's election, the Labour Party had earmarked Harlow as one of 25 key seats across the country. While polls predicted the party was on course to lose 170 council seats nationally. A poll conducted by the Star said Labour would gain seats.

Council leader Jon Clempner said he thought the council election "would be tighter" than the results showed.

He said: "I thought it was going to be a tighter election but this shows people recognised we have made a positive difference.

"While there may have been some confusion in the election last year with the General Election the people of Harlow have backed Labour on local issues."

Senior Labour councillor Mike Danvers played down the opinion polls and said the party had received a good reaction on the doorstep.

"We have had a good reception on the doorstep. We have been out knocking on doors for most of the year - that could be the difference," he said.

One third of the council's 33 seats were up for grabs, with attention focused on the Harlow Common ward after Labour's Mark Wilkinson won the seat last year by just 16 votes. But the group's deputy leader Emma Toal secured it with an increased majority of 113.

Fantastic

"It is fantastic to have won and I am delighted," she said. "It was nerve-racking, it looked close when you saw the votes being counted and you can never quite tell. We are delighted with our performance tonight.

Cllr Clempner, who cemented his place on the council by beating his Conservative rival by more than 500 votes, said the hard work of the Labour group had paid off in his party securing an overall win.

He said: "It was the result we were hoping for. We worked very hard to get our positive message across.

"We fought this election on local issues. We have been working with other local bodies, but we are a red dot in a sea of blue."

Cllr Clempner added that he would like to continue as leader of the council but said the ultimate decision rested with his party.

In 2015, Harlow elected a Conservative MP with Robert Halfon but the party's success in the General Election was not replicated last week. Although the group retained its seats in Church Langley, Great Parndon, Old Harlow, and Summers and Katherines, it does not make any gains.

Speaking after the election count, which was held at the Latton Bush Centre on Thursday, Mr Halfon said his party "put up a good fight" to retain its current seats.

"I am very happy that we put up such a good fight and regained all of our seats, and came very close to winning some," he said.

"As we are the party in government and with so many national issues going on I thought Labour would be looking to take seats, but this has not happened.

"I am happy Harlow still has a strong Conservative presence. We came very close to winning two seats. I would have loved us to have won but the fact is that as the Government we would expect to defend seats rather than take them."

Cllr Clempner added: "I truly believe that Harlow is on the cusp of many great things again, and it is an honour to continue fight for the jobs, infrastructure, housing and skills that Harlow people deserve."

OF SEATS: Labour 19, Conservative 12, UKIP 2

THE county's new policing boss has vowed to bring back police on the beat and merge the leadership of the fire service with his force.

Conservative Roger Hirst swept to victory in the Essex Police and Crime Commissioner election by more than 30,000 votes.

His nearest competitor was UKIP's Bob Spink, who Mr Hirst beat in the second round by 135,948 votes to 103,792. Voters in Harlow selected Labour's Chris Vince as the town's first preference with Mr Hirst coming in second.

After taking the oath of office and promising to stand by his manifesto pledges, Mr Hirst, a former cabinet member of Essex County Council, said: "I feel elated but I know there is a big job ahead. It will definitely be a challenge."

"There are savings to be made and there are demands on police time. It is about finding new efficiency, using new technology and putting better organisational structures in place."

"The key priority first of all is getting the manifesto message across to the police and that is more local, more visible and more accessible policing."

"I want more police out on patrol and if that means finding ways for them to do their paperwork better, so be it."

During previous Commissioner Nick Alston's time in office, large swaths of the force's Police Community Support Officers (PCSOs) were made redundant and front desks closed.

While Chancellor George Osborne vowed to protect the police budget, Mr Hirst admitted new ways of thinking about policing were required.

Unlike Mr Alston's time in office, Mr Hirst's began with a slightly larger mandate after 26 per cent of the electorate had their say, more than double the turnout in 2012.

Alongside his pledge to have officers spending 20 per cent more time out in the community, Mr Hirst vowed to double the number of special constables, volunteers who are used mainly to tackle crime at local neighbourhood level.

But perhaps the most groundbreaking promise to improve police efficiency and free up funds was the proposal that the county's police and fire services could join together under a single banner head organisation. "I want to bring the police and the fire service closer together," added the 55-year-old.

"It is not going to happen overnight and the promises I have made in my manifesto are over four years, not four months."

"We have already had good discussions with the fire service and the fire authority and we have good reason to believe the police and the fire service are behind going on this journey together."

Mr Hirst officially start his new role today (Thursday) when Mr Alston's tenure comes to an end.

McDonald's serves up table deliveries

HARLOW: Customers in the town centre branch of fast food chain McDonald's can now choose to have their food served at their table.

After a national trial, table service is being introduced at selected restaurants including the Broad Walk premises, which already has self-service facilities.

Once an order is placed, the food is prepared and then delivered to the table.

"We know that for parents, for example, it can sometimes be a stressful experience ordering at the till and carrying food while keeping an eye on children," said a spokesman.

"Table service enables customers to order at the self-order kiosk and then sit down at a designated zone to be served their food."

Blogger on shortlist

HARLOW: A social media ambassador for mental health support charity Mind in West Essex, which is based at Bush Fair, has been shortlisted for a blogging award.

Mother-of-two Michelle Reeves, who blog is entitled The Joy Chaser, has been nominated in the inspire category for the Brit Mums 2016 Brilliance in Blogging Awards.

In The Joy Chaser, Michelle shares her experiences and the lessons she had learned recovering from post-natal depression.

She will find out if she has won at an awards ceremony next month.

Fair pair rebailed

HARLOW: Two people arrested in connection with the death of a young girl at a fun fair in Harlow Town Park have had their bail extended.

A 24-year-old woman and a 27-year-old man, both from Cambridgeshire, were arrested on suspicion of manslaughter by gross negligence following the death of seven-year-old Summer Grant in March.

Summer suffered fatal injuries when the bouncy castle on which she was playing was blown hundreds of metres across the park by a strong gust of wind.

The pair who were arrested have been rebailed until September 13 while police continue their inquiries into the incident.

Teen jailed for bottle attack on taxi driver

Victim need 80 stitches to wounds on head and face

Court Reporter

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER who carried out an "outrageous" attack with a beer bottle which left a 69-year-old cab driver with serious head injuries has been jailed for 30 months.

Daniel Bibby, 18, who at the time of the incident lived at Occasio House in Playhouse Square, Harlow, pleaded guilty to unlawfully wounding Barry Winstone.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Mr Winstone needed 80 stitches to the wounds in his head and face which he suffered in the attack on March 19.

The court was told Bibby hit Mr Winstone hit him once on the back of the head and twice in the face using a bottle from a crate of beer which he and two friends had with them.

Crown prosecutor Geoff Gelbart said Mr Winstone visited hospital on four occasions and needed at least three weeks off work. He has been left with scarring and lost up to £1,200 in income.

Mr Gelbart said Mr Winstone had picked up Bibby and two other people in Epping High Street. They asked him to drive them to North Weald and a fare was agreed and paid.

They also asked to go to various other places during the course of the journey and Mr Winstone formed the opinion they did not know where they were going.

"He stopped the taxi and asked them to leave and was struck on the back of the head with a glass bottle which came from a crate of beer," said Mr Gelbart. "He was then struck twice in the face."

Bibby then got out of the SCARRED: Above, taxi driver Barry Winstone was off work for three weeks while he recovered from the injuries which were described by the judge as 'appalling'. Left, how he is today vehicle with a bottle of lager in each hand and threw them at Mr Winstone but fortunately neither caused further injury. He then ran off but was later arrested after police were told his identity by the other two people who were with him.

Sumeer Choudhury, representing Bibby, said in mitigation he deeply regretted the incident and apologised for his actions. He fully accepted responsibility for the injuries which were caused in the taxi.

She said he had been drinking during the course of the evening and purchased a crate of beer before moving on to another location.

She added: "He was a student at Harlow College at the time and was doing a course to help him join the Armed Forces and still hopes to. He also suffered from depression."

Jailing Bibby for two years and six months, judge Anthony Goldstaub said taxi drivers needed to know they had the protection of the courts for the service they provide.

Outrage

He told the defendant: "You were convicted for being drunk and disorderly in January this year shortly before this outrage and you were still drinking."

"You didn't seem to know where you were going several times and he [Mr Winstone] formed the view you didn't know where you were going. Your response was to strike him with a forcible blow with a beer bottle and, when he turned round, struck him twice more in the face."

The judge added: "You did him serious injury, the damage done was appalling. He had 80 stitches in hospital, which required him to attend on four occasions and was off work for some considerable time."

"Taxi drivers work at night providing a very useful service for member of the public moving around, such as doctors and nurses. If people get away with lenient sentences for attacking them there won't be any. They must know courts will protect them."

A second charge of wounding with intent, to which Bibby pleaded not guilty, was ordered to be left on file.

Speaking afterwards, Mr Winstone, of Vicarage Lane, North Weald, criticised the sentence, saying that it was too short.

"With good behaviour he will be out in just over a year," he said. "These courts need sorting out."

Museum to host event to explore history of homes

RESIDENTS who want to find out more about the history of their homes should head to the Museum of Harlow on Tuesday.

Essex Record Office will be hosting an event that will help people discover information about the building in which they live.

"It is a chance to find out more about the people who used to live in your house, what they did and how they lived," said an ERO spokesman. "You can also find out what was on the land before your house was built."

The ERO has a vast archive of documents, maps, images and sound and video recordings that tells the story of nearly 1,000 years of Essex history. Experts will be on hand to help gather the information together.

Cllr John Spence, Essex County Council's cabinet member for finance with responsibility for heritage, culture and the arts, said: "ERO may be based in Chelmsford but its records cover the whole of our county. Our experts love getting out and showcasing the incredible uses to which you can put the archives."

"We have such a strong connection with our houses but rarely do we know much about what they were like before we moved in."

The event runs at the museum in Muskhams Road from 10.30am to noon and costs £10. To book a place in advance call 033301 32500.

Rollout of high-speed broadband continues

PEOPLE living in Roydon Hamlet and Bumbles Green could soon be able to download films in less than 60 seconds and upload 200 photos in less than 10.

It is part of a rolling programme by broadband provider Gigaclear to extend ultrafast internet speeds to more homes and businesses in rural Essex.

Some areas of the county currently experience speeds of just 7.1Mbps but Gigaclear is able to provide speeds up to 1Gbps (1,000 Mbps) – 33 times faster than the UK average.

Chief executive Matthew Hare comments: "We're really excited about starting to build our new pure fibre network in these Essex villages and are looking forward to bringing new ways of working, doing business, learning, communicating and playing to residents and businesses in the region."

The £7.5m Rural Challenge Project is part of the Superfast Essex broadband programme co-ordinated by Essex County Council.

Coffee and cakes raise cash for heroes charity

A CHARITY coffee morning held at St Andrew's Church in The Stow, Harlow, raised £476.

The Bake For Heroes fundraiser was organised by travel counsellor Kerry Vidler in aid of the Armed Forces charity Help For Heroes.

As well as refreshments morning there were 15 stalls. "All of the stallholders and customers said that they enjoyed it, especially the coffee and cakes," said Kerry, who added she was very pleased with the amount raised.

Share in community cash

COMMUNITY groups are being given the chance to share in a £1.5m giveaway.

Grants of up to £20,000 are available for parish councils, local charities and other community associations to spend on projects such as recreational facilities, village halls, community shops and transport, land purchases, playground equipment and environmental works.

The money is being made available from Essex County Council's Community Initiatives Fund.

Applications, which will be judged on merit, should include evidence of strong community support.

The closing date for completed expressions of interest is Friday, August 26. Completed application forms must be submitted by Friday, September 23. Local judging panels will meet in November to allocate grants.

New town awards will showcase grand design

Society keen to 'preserve and enhance' special character

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

GOOD design in Harlow's buildings and public spaces will be celebrated with then launch of a new architectural award scheme.

Harlow Civic Society, which is behind the project, hopes the awards will encourage developers to produce new designs that both preserve and enhance the town's special character.

Two local artists will produce the trophies, plaques and certificates for the awards.

"Harlow Civic Society is keen to encourage good design in building and public spaces throughout the town. This has always been one of its key aims and up to now the only way to achieve it has been to comment on developers' plans as they apply for planning permission," said a spokesman.

"Since developers will have an extra incentive to produce pleasing new designs, the society is looking forward to seeing new buildings that both preserve and enhance the town's special character."

Artists Jon Lewis and Ewa Wawrzyniak, who work as part of the thriving creative community at Parndon Mill, were briefed to come up with designs that reflected Harlow's original town hall designed by Sir Frederick Gibberd and John Graham with its distinctive barrel vaulted roof and viewing gallery.

Ewa's proposal was selected by the society for the residential award and Jon's for a non-residential award.

Both awards will be given annually based on a combination of votes cast by readers of the Star and the decision of a special panel of experts.

Ewa has been a professional glass artist for more than 20 years and teaches at the University of Hertfordshire. She is particularly interested in buildings and how they fit into their surroundings.

Ewa's design will have four layers of optiwhite glass to give a clear and transparent look to the piece. The barrel-vaulted feature of the town hall will be hand drawn with glass enamels on all four layers to show a 3D effect of the building and the tree.

Jon also works in glass and over a 25-year period has become fluent in many disciplines including glass casting, blown glass, stained glass and architectural and sculptural work. He has worked and exhibited glass around the world.

Since 2005 he has been running a studio, Orbic Glass in Harlow where as well as making his own work for commission.

Jon's design will incorporate the glass that was part of the former "pepper pot" building recently demolished at the former Harlow College site.

Harlow Civic Society is currently looking for community-minded sponsors for both trophies to cover the next 10 years. For more information email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Wine-tasting trip will raise funds for breast cancer trials unit

FUNDRAISERS for the Harlow and Epping breast cancer trials unit have unveiled their latest money-spinning idea – a luxury wine-tasting tour to France.

The three-day mini break to the vineyards of Burgundy will take place later this year.

And places are available for a suggested donation of £1,000 which will help fund the work of the research unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital and St Margaret's Hospital.

The trip includes flights, private transfers, two nights bed and breakfast plus meals and three tastings at different vineyards with transport provided.

"It's a lavish experience with return BA flights from London City airport and private transfers whisking the small group around the vineyards set on beautiful sloping hills," said organiser Victoria Gerlis.

"We organised a similar experience to Bordeaux in 2013 and people are still talking about it. It's nice to have a treat to look forward to, especially when it's boosting a good cause."

The trip takes place from Friday, September 30 to Sunday, October 2. It is just one of a number of luxury events the charity has planned for this year, including an evening at celebrity chef Cyrus Todiwala's London restaurant Café Spice on Saturday, November 19 and dinner at the exclusive members-only Royal Automobile Club in Pall Mall on Saturday, November 26.

Take a walk to raise vital funds for hospice

ORGANISERS of this year's St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk are keeping their fingers crossed they will succeed in hitting their fundraising target of £60,000.

For that is the amount of money that will fund the hospice's in-patient unit for two weeks.

St Clare provides specialist palliative care for people living with terminal life-limiting illnesses, offering physical, emotional, social and psychological support for patients and their families across West Essex and East Hertfordshire.

Over the past 26 years the hospice has provided that support free of charge to thousands of families, but all of those services come at a cost.

The annual running costs of the hospice at Hastingwood are now £3.7m but it receives limited support from the NHS and relies heavily on donations to keep it going.

Every year it has to secure £2.4m from fundraising activities like the Midnight Walk as well as other voluntary sources.

"Just £10 will pay for art and craft materials for a week of creative therapy workshops, £25 pays for a complementary therapy session for one patient and £48 pays for a 90-minute home visit by a Hospice at Home nursing assistant," said a hospice spokeswoman.

This year's neon-themed

CARING: Some of the nursing team at St Clare Hospice

Midnight Walk, which takes place around the streets of Harlow on Saturday, July 2, is one of its biggest fundraisers and it is hoped hundreds of people will take part.

Walkers can choose from one of two routes, either 5km or 10km, and both will start from The Water Gardens at 11pm. However, the evening begins at 9.30pm with registration and a warm up by PureGym and Clubbercise.

Tickets to take part cost £20 for adults (16 years and above) and £10 for children (11-15 years). You can register online at stclarehospice.org.uk/event/midnight-walk-2016/ or by contacting challenge and events fundraiser Jade Clarke on (01279) 773756 or by email to jade.clarke@stclarehospice.org.uk.

Registration forms are also available from the hospice reception at Hastingwood or any of its shops.

The Midnight Walk is sponsored by local solicitors Barnes and Partners and supported by the Star.

Town's elderly to benefit from lottery funding

Charity gets £183k grant to extend project

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE future of a project to reduce loneliness and the sense of social isolation among Harlow's elderly residents has been secured thanks to a grant from the Big Lottery Fund.

Staff at the Wych Elm-based charity Rainbow Services are celebrating after its bid for a share of the £2.5m cashpot to run the Senior Safe and Social project for a further three years was successful.

"To say we are delighted would be an understatement," said chief executive Jackie Sully. "It will enable us to do more work for older people."

Rainbow Services will use the £183,313 it has been awarded to extend Senior Safe and Social to 10 new areas to help reduce loneliness and social isolation experienced by older people.

The trial period has run for two years and more than 200 elderly residents have benefited from lunch clubs, neighbourhood support, friendship groups, days out and chat groups. Older people will also receive safety information and advice on how to remain independent within their home.

"Lots of older people, as well as having health challenges, can feel lonely and isolated," explained Mrs Sully. "If we think about modern day living, lots of families move away. People are not as confident about going out and if you consider buses and taxis it's another layer of challenge."

Company

"A lot of older people we interviewed said they only have their TV for company."

She added: "We organise low key social activities so people can have conversations. We also re-introduce people into their communities which allows older people to support one another."

"We ran the trial period for just under two years and just over 200 people were helped.

People have come off anti-depressant medication through the project.

"We were under strict instructions not to tell anybody until yesterday. We are all delighted and the best thing is that so many people are delighted for us."

The awards have been made through the Big Lottery Fund's Awards for All and Reaching Communities programmes.

Awards for All provides grants between £300 and £10,000 to voluntary and community organisations while Reaching Communities awards larger grants of £10,000 and above.

Projects in Colchester, Southend and Cambridge have also benefited in the latest share-out.

Lynn Cole, grant making director for Big Lottery Fund England, said: "It's wonderful to hear the stories of how through these great projects people have overcome barriers, learned new skills and improved their lives."

Join the stag hunt

Fact file

IT may look like an armour-plated war machine with fearsome weapons with which to fight its opponents, but the sad truth is the friendly stag beetle is in danger of becoming extinct in the UK.

It is becoming harder to catch a glimpse of this impressive creature because their numbers are dwindling across Europe due to loss of habitat and predators including cats, magpies and humans.

In some parts of this country stag beetles are already extinct, so now the People's Trust for Endangered Species is asking the public to record any sightings for their annual Great Stag Hunt.

Stag beetles live in gardens, parks, woodlands and traditional orchards, mainly in southern England and coastal areas of the south west. They can grow up to 7.5cm in length which makes them the second largest of all UK beetles.

For the majority of their life they remain underground in their pre-adult stage, feeding on rotten wood. But once fully grown they build a large cocoon and turn into their more recognisable form.

A total of 5,796 stag beetles were recorded during last year's Great Stag Hunt.

Conservation officer Laura Bower said: "The Great Stag Hunt has involved thousands of people over the past 20 years. Now is the right time of year for people to start recording sightings of stag beetles as they emerge from mid-May onwards."

To raise the profile of beetles, PTES is working with author MG Leonard, who wrote the best-selling children's novel Beetle Boy which follows the adventure of a boy and his friend Baxter, who is a beetle.

For more information on how to identify a stag beetle and what to do if you find one, visit www.ptes.org/stagbeetles. To take part in the Great Stag Hunt survey, visit www.ptes.org/stagbeetles.

■ Stag beetles can fly and can often be seen on humid, thundery evenings between May and August.

■ Stag beetle larvae are good for the garden. They eat rotting wood but don't touch living plants.

■ Male stag beetles have large jaws called mandibles, which look a bit like the antlers of a deer. They use them to fight other males.

■ According to folklore, stag beetles summoned thunder and lightning storms.

■ Most stag beetles live for only a few weeks after emerging as an adult, with many dying during the winter months. A few survive if they find a nice and warm place to live like a compost heap.

SHORT CUT: Melissa is handed her hair

Melissa waves goodbye to 18 inches of hair

Seven-year-old donates her locks to charity

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A KIND-hearted girl is sporting a new look after donating 18 inches of her hair to a charity which makes wigs for sick children.

Seven-year-old Melissa Wild, who lives in Newhall, Harlow, donated her much-loved locks to the Little Princess Trust and also raised £320 for Royal Brompton Hospital from the sponsored cut-nip on Sunday.

Mum Stacey Gardner, 27, said: "She is ecstatic and I am so proud of her, I literally cried.

"Her inspiration was her aunt, Jenny Parnham, who did it last summer. Melissa asked me three months ago why she had done it and I explained to her that she had given her hair to poorly children.

"After I showed her a photo she said she wanted to have her hair-cut for poorly children too. The thing is that she loves her hair and would not even have a centimetre cut off before.

"I thought I would leave it but she told me she wanted to do it every day. She said 'I want those children to look as beautiful as I do'."

Melissa, a Year 2 pupil at Church Langley Primary School, was watched by family and friends when she had her cut at The Chequers pub in Old Harlow on Sunday.

She chose to support the Royal Brompton in London as it was the hospital where her younger sister Gracie underwent lifesaving surgery for a hole in the heart when she was just nine months old.

Stacey added: "The cut went really well, people started arriving around half past one to get food and drinks from the bar.

"She was really happy to sit in the chair and have the hair cut. Every day since she has been asking me if they [Little Princess Trust] has got the hair yet.

"It was an emotional moment for me."

Melissa, who also has a younger brother Max, is still appealing for donations for the hospital. To contribute, visit www.justgiving.com/Stacey-Wild3.

Sex assault charge

A MAN has been charged with sexual assault after a woman was attacked in Harlow.

The 38-year-old victim was walking along a footpath between Fifth Avenue and Newstead Way when she was grabbed from behind and pushed over.

The incident happened at 11.35pm on Thursday, March 17.

Marvin McKenzie, 28, of Vansittart Road, Forest Gate, has been charged with sexual assault and five counts of outraging public decency.

Foster bus in town

ANYONE interested in fostering can find out more on the when an information bus pulls into Harlow next week during Foster Care Fortnight.

The specially-equipped bus is on a tour of Essex giving the public a chance to talk to current foster carers and members of Essex County Council's fostering recruitment team.

The bus will be at The Water Gardens on Tuesday from 10am-2pm. Another information event will be held at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way on Thursday, May 26 from 7pm.

Cruise the Danube to Vienna & Budapest by Rail

Departing 26 June, 24 July, 21 August & 18 September 2016

From the pretty German city of Passau on the Austrian border to the Hungarian capital of Budapest, we cruise in comfort and style aboard the ms Serenity, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Wachau Valley and dipping into the history and culture of amazing cities along the way. This is a wonderful opportunity to sail the waters that are beautifully immortalised by the composer Strauss, in this classical waltz The Blue Danube.

Day 1: UK - Munich

We travel by rail to Munich, where we continue to our overnight hotel.

Day 2: Munich - Passau

We travel by rail and board our ship in Passau, known as the 'three rivers city' due to its unique location where the Danube, Inn and Ilz Rivers meet. Those travelling by air join today. You can then relax as we set sail and cruise towards Melk.

Day 3: Melk - Vienna

This morning we arrive in the small town of Melk, which lies in the beautiful Wachau Valley. Here you can join our optional excursion visiting the Benedictine Abbey. This is one of the most famous monastic houses in Austria and has been occupied by monks for over 900 years. You can relax on board for the remainder of the day as we cruise to Vienna for an overnight stop.

Day 4: Vienna

We spend a full day experiencing the delights of Vienna. Grand palaces, baroque castles, magnificent squares and striking monuments are just some of the key features of this beautiful city, which is a World Heritage Site. In the morning you can join our optional city tour and in the afternoon we have an optional excursion to Schönbrunn Palace, which takes you on a journey through time as we explore some of the 1,441 rooms. In the early evening we cast off and cruise towards Budapest.

Day 5: Budapest

Today we have a full day in Budapest, one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Here you can explore both sides of Hungary's capital - traditional Buda and the more cosmopolitan Pest. Start the day by joining our optional city tour which introduces you to the highlights and helps you get your bearings in the city known as the 'pearl of the Danube'. In the evening you can join our optional excursion to experience Budapest by night with a traditional folklore show.

Day 6: Budapest

Enjoy a morning in Budapest or join our optional excursion which takes you through the sweeping plains of Hungary to Lajosmizse. Here we visit a traditional stud farm and enjoy a tour of the grounds in a horse-drawn carriage, before watching a spectacular live Puszta horse show. We set sail in the afternoon and cruise towards Bratislava.

Day 7: Bratislava

We reach Bratislava in the early morning. This historic city is dominated by its castle and unique suspension bridge. Join our optional walking tour to take in the sights of this Slovakian capital and experience its rich culture, before we set sail in the afternoon and cruise towards Dürnstein.

Day 8: Dürnstein

The town of Dürnstein is crowned by the ruins of the castle that once imprisoned Richard the Lionheart. Join our optional walking tour which takes you around the cobbled streets to admire the pretty courtyards and buildings, before stopping at one of the Wachau Valley's renowned wine cellars to enjoy some wine tasting. We set sail for the final time and cruise towards Passau.

Day 9: Passau - Munich

This morning we bid farewell to our captain and his crew and travel by rail to Munich or Cologne for our overnight stay.

Day 10: Munich - UK

After breakfast we continue by rail for the return journey.

Turning a wedding into a marriage

SPRING and summer are when there'll be weddings galore, with couples making their vows and enjoying one of the most important days of their lives.

Of course, as brides and grooms are frequently reminded, it's once the party's over and the newlyweds have waltzed off into the sunshine that the hard work of maintaining a marriage really begins.

In the UK, the average marriage is expected to last 32 years, according to the Office for National Statistics (ONS), which is three long decades of arguing over whose turn it is to do the washing up.

And that's only if you make it that far.

The ONS figures estimate that 42 per cent of marriages end in divorce, with 34 per cent expected to end by their 20th wedding anniversary and only 16 per cent lasting until the diamond 60th wedding anniversary.

So how can husbands and wives-to-be ensure their marriage goes the distance?

Mary Banham-Hall – a lawyer and mediator with more than three decades' experience, and author of new book Love Lose Live: Divorce Is A Rollercoaster – offers up these top tips for couples tying the knot...

TALK ABOUT HAVING CHILDREN

Do you want any – if so, when?

Never assume your partner feels the same way as you do, or merrily think that if you disagree, the problem will go away. It probably won't.

Babies can make or break your relationship. You need to start in the same place.

HAVE THE MONEY CHAT

Are you both debt averse or is just one of you?

Think how you will run your finances. Even if you have separate accounts, if one saves and the other spends, it causes friction.

Talk this through carefully. Who will pay what? Try and make it feel fair so you each have about the same level of disposable income.

DECIDE WHERE TO LIVE

Town or country, old or new, garden or decked courtyard, high-maintenance or easy life?

It's best to try to work out a lifestyle you both like, as if you hate gardening you won't want to spend hours a week doing it.

But if the big outdoors is essential to your happiness, then a 10th-floor luxury flat will be torture.

These things matter on a daily basis more than you think.

CONFLICT RESOLUTION

Make sure you can resolve disagreements and problems without having highly-charged emotional rows.

Each of you should feel able to express your feelings and beliefs without being ridiculed or attacked.

Learn to listen to each other, not just think what you're going to say when you argue back and try to make the other person do what you want. Sometimes you should do what they want.

SET SOME HOUSE RULES

Both of you need to feel comfortable with how you live, and neither of you has a right to impose your rules on the other.

This must be a fair and mutually respectful negotiation.

For example, if you both work, then household tasks should be fairly shared.

If one does the lion's share while the other relaxes, this can be very destructive to your relationship. Silent resentment is a marriage wrecker.

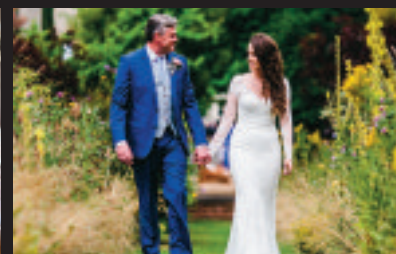

WEDDING V MARRIAGE

The wedding is just one very special day, it's precious, and you'll remember it forever, but the marriage is the nuts and bolts of life and you want it to last forever.

You need to invest even more time and money in nurturing your marriage year in, year out than you did the wedding.

WEDDING STYLE

Tips on getting hair in shape

T'S been a stressful time the past few weeks and, as such, my hair has decided to empathise.

And now the stress has led me to binge-eat chocolate (OK, I do that regardless), I've gained thickness around the waistline and thinness around the hairline – I love nature.

So I've been looking into cheating God's intentions and finding ways to get some oomph back into my locks...

OLIVE OIL AND AVOCADO – a recipe for a salad topping and also a deep conditioning treatment for hair. Mash together, eat half and apply the remainder to your hair, leave for half an hour, then rinse thoroughly. The oils will leave your hair shiny and Vitamin E in the avocado will strengthen it.

CUT BACK on using heated appliances, and if you do use them, always apply a protection spray before.

NEVER BRUSH WET HAIR, always use a wide-toothed comb or a Tangle Teaser as this limits breakage. Wet hair is stretched and weakened so is more liable to break.

IRON: Make sure you are getting plenty of iron in your diet, especially women, as a lack of this can cause lifeless locks.

SHAMPOO: Splash out on a decent shampoo free from sodium lauryl sulphate. This harsh detergent fools us into shiny hair, but after a few washes all it does is weaken it.

I took my dreadlocks to test out the Windle and Moodie Essential Oils Elixir, a pre-conditioning treatment that works by twisting and pushing the oil up each hair strand towards the hair shaft.

This is left under the heat and then given a thorough shampoo out. The treatment contains a blend of apricot, coconut, camellia and oat oils that are 98 per cent natural.

My hair was renewed, glossy and looking healthier than it has been in a long time.

However, many of us don't have the time for salon visits, so I've been testing some other products:

SALON SCIENCE CELLUTENSIVE

MASQUE £19 BOOTS NATIONWIDE

This range has a product to solve every hair dilemma from itchy scalp to brittle and thinning hair. This doesn't weigh the hair down like some deep treatments do. It's a salon-quality product using only top active ingredients.

KHADI AMLA HAIR OIL £11.90

WWW.KHADIHAIR.CO.UK

A pre-shampoo treatment which can be left on for 30 minutes or overnight. This oil contains Omega-rich sunflower, sesame, almond and vitamin E oils to strengthen hair and help prevent split ends.

GLAMORISER BLACK DIAMOND OIL INFUSED CERAMIC PLATES £89.99

ARGOS

If you must use them, these straighteners are a good choice. The plates are infused with Black Diamond Oil – however, my hair resembled that only seen on a glossy magazine ad. Serious shine, quick to use.

MILK SHAKE ENERGISING BLEND

RANGE PRICES FROM £14.99

WWW.MILKSHAKEHAIRCARE.CO.UK

If you love your hair wash to be an experience, then these revitalising and energising products will give you just that. Formulated with key ingredients organic rosemary, organic sage, eucalyptus as well as an abundance of essential oils, your hair will feel thicker and stronger, whilst the uplifting scent will set you up for the day!

RUSH ULTIMATE BLOW DRY LOTION £6

WWW.MARKSANDSPENCER.COM

Over-styling and over-washing are two of the main culprits for dry and damaged hair. Rush's Blow Dry Lotion remedies this by keeping your style in place for longer.

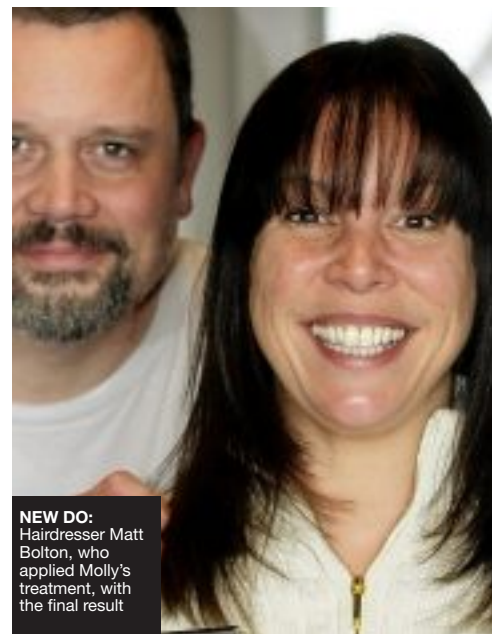

CHIA SEED OIL VOLUME & SHINE

SHAMPOO PRICES FROM £3.49

SUPERDRUG

This creamy shampoo has been created to restore hair using no harsh chemicals. Free from sodium lauryl sulphate (note this is different from laureth sulphate) and parabens, and contains organic chia seed and five uplifting essential oils.

WHAT'S NEW?

Wedding trends for 2016

Berry Hearts
Bronze Pennys
(Ireland) £2.50

Teaspoon Twist Mixed
Metallics Set Of 4
Oliver Bonas £19

Tealight Holder; New Look;
£7.99

IT'S out with the old and in with the new in the wedding industry. This means it's all change again for wedding trends as fresh ideas for dress styles, cakes and reception décor start to seep through.

So what can you expect to see if you're planning your own nuptials this year or attending someone else's big day?

DRESSES

The bridal catwalks in the latter part of last year were full of fabulous features that many brides will welcome.

Spring trends include flattering, plunging necklines, pretty 3D floral details and even feathers.

There's definitely a trend towards flashing a bit of flesh on your wedding day, even though it's done in a tasteful way.

Deep necklines are definitely around, as are exposed backs, going as low as you dare.

The 3D details were everywhere, including little flowers and butterflies attached to the main dress.

Feathers were seen covering the entire skirt of bridal gowns or as fluttery trims.

Blush is back and floral prints are rearing their heads, too.

RECEPTION/DÉCOR

Metallics will still be huge this year; they are predicted to be everywhere.

They'll make it onto the centrepieces, the invites, the cake trimming and more. Colour-wise, pastel, almost powder blue has been seen around and is expected to make its mark.

Also back are circus-inspired brights, such as strong yellow,

Gold Heart
Home Sense
£5.99

Spare a thought for the bakers as ruffled cakes are in, too, with the intricately-designed icing looking like the skirt on a ruffled wedding dress.

Metallics details are in – to match the popular theme for this year.

This isn't for everyone, but, believe it or not, 'naked' cakes will be cropping up again this year, too – that is, cakes without any fondant.

Expect to see three-tiered Victoria sandwich cakes, which tie in nicely with a rustic theme.

Some happy couples will be moving even further away from traditional seating patterns this year, too.

The traditional, 'conference' feel of a top table and a cluster of round tables is fading a little, with a move towards long, rectangular tables or a mix of rectangular, square and circular tables for those who want that casual vibe.

red and blue, which may be continued into the reception with entertainment such as jugglers, magicians, sweets and popcorn carts.

Aerial photography is increasingly popular – make sure you speak to your photographer and venue about the scope for this if you're planning your wedding.

If you're a guest, don't think you'll get away with one shot by the lake – you'll probably be expected to pose for various aerial photos, too.

CAKES

Cake trends are often only second to wedding dress fashions when it comes to the wow factor.

So what's in store for those with a sweet tooth in 2016?

Florals are in again with a layer of multi-coloured sugar flowers carpeted over the cake.

FLOWERS

As expected, the trends from other aspects of your big day spill over into the floral arrangements, too.

So 'naked' bouquets, made up of nudes, peaches and creams, will be apparent, as will brights such as vibrant yellows and reds.

Interesting foliage is in demand, too, and luckily there is grey, purple and red foliage available – not just green these days.

For floral arrangements at your reception, you'll see more pieces suspended above the tables with barely-there wires, in keeping with the rustic feel.

And, of course, metallics, metallics, metallics.

WEDDING STYLE

A time for heels

THE annoying thing about wedding shoes is that you don't usually get to wear them a second time. You might splash the cash on a pair of stunning ivory courts, then they get stored in a box and put away forever.

What is great about Rachel Simpson bridal shoes is that not only are they breathtakingly beautiful, but, if you choose to, you could wear them again and again.

Most of her show designs can easily become party shoes, going out shoes or even look fab with jeans and a stylish top.

The designer has recently released two new styles to her popular collection – the Charlotte in Ivory Lace is a pretty shoe with peep toes, open sides and filled in backs, adorned with lace, silver beading, delicate sequins, pearls and diamantes.

To complete your look, the Charlotte comes with a matching clutch bag, the Celine and the Camille hair comb.

If you still haven't found your something blue, look no further than the Kate in midnight navy lace, which is toned with place bronze leather with a subtle sparkle.

If you fancy a touch of pink, then the Carina Rose Pink Lace is so pretty with its T-bar platform style and champagne gold leather petals.

Or what about the Amelie Duck Egg Leather, which incorporates a peep-toe, cut-out design with scalloped edging?

For the sassy bride who wants to pick up on the trend for metallics, there's the Leonie Gold Snake Leather shoes, which have a small platform, peep toe and bold binding.

Carina Rose pink lace £190

Amelie in duck egg leather £175

Visit Cream to choose a dream outfit for that special occasion

ONCE you know your son or daughter is getting married and they have bridesmaids colours sorted, then that is the time to start looking for your special outfit.

Cream in John Street, Royston, has an amazing stock on two floors, colour co-ordinated for ease of selection. Everything is available – outfit, shoes and matching bag, hat or fascinator and the all-important undergarments.

It's a good idea to have a budget in mind and to know what the other mum is likely to be wearing. Also, don't try on too many outfits and get confused.

Sue Ross has been trading in Royston 40 years this year and she and her staff will be only too happy to help and guide you. You know you have found the outfit when everything gels and you have that wow factor.

All alterations are carried out free of charge, with the fitting being done one month before the event.

Sue puts Cream's success down to the personal service provided, which is why so many customers return.

Back on home turf

Billy Bragg returns to his native Essex for a headline appearance at the Village Green festival in Southend. He tells Darryl Webber about his connection with his old stomping ground and why he enjoys playing festivals

In July, Billy Bragg will make a familiar journey, but not one he's done for quite a while. The singer, writer and political campaigner will make his way to Chalkwell Park for the Village Green festival heading along the road that follows the Thames estuary out from London to Southend.

He wrote a song about the journey more than 30 years ago. A13: Trunk Road To The Sea recalls the trips Billy made with his family (and later with his mates) from his native Barking to Southend, listing familiar names along the way and Chalkwell is, of course, one of them.

Long gone are the days when the Braggs used to regularly head down to sunny Southend and the sandy beach at Shoeburyness for some seaside fun, but it's clear that he still holds the place high in his affections. And he's already familiar with the festival.

"I did one of the early Village Green festivals," he says. "I did a big busk and got a lot of people onstage. I've got lots of childhood memories of Chalkwell Park and going to Southend. I've still got family who live that way so I get back to Essex now and then."

A festival veteran who's played gigs large and small for the best part of three decades, Billy knows how to work a festival crowd and says it's all about adapting to the situation.

"You have to do what feels right on the day. It depends who else is on the bill and what the weather is like. If it's a sunny day you're in a better position, that's for sure. I've played at festivals where it's tipped it down all weekend and you have to do something uplifting, so I do a song like One Love and everyone has a singalong."

Another thing Billy likes about festivals is that you're not just playing to your own crowd.

"Festivals are a great chance to connect with people. They might just be walking by to get their breakfast, but it's your chance to draw them in. I think you have to play a set that reaches out to people because not everyone is there to see you."

"I enjoy playing festivals but they've changed. There are a lot more boutique, smaller ones now so you don't get lost while you're on the site. In the old days, festivals were massive. Now they're more like – and I don't mean this in a bad way – rock 'n' roll fetes. They're nice to play."

He may have been writing, performing and campaigning since the late 1970s, but Bragg is showing no signs of slowing down or mellowing with age. He's playing a number of festivals over the summer – including curating the Left Field stage at Glastonbury – before releasing a new album in September and then going on a UK tour in the autumn.

Bragg is renowned for his political songs but has his doubts whether they have the same effect these days as they did when he first started out.

"In the old days, you only really used to be able to connect with people via songs, there was no social media for people to have their say then. Music is no longer at the vanguard in that role. Debates, conversations and ideas used to be propagated by albums, gigs and the radio but not anymore."

As passionate about his principles as ever, Billy still plays protest songs and says his Village Green set could include songs from across his whole career; he might even play some new material. But more than anything, he seems excited about being back on home turf.

"I'm looking forward to coming back to Chalkwell Park. I always have a good time in Essex. I always think of myself as an Essex boy so it'll be good to be back."

THINK FLOYD - LIVE IN CONCERT 2016

Rhodes, South Road, Bishop's Stortford
Thursday, May 19 (8pm) £21

The Pink Floyd tribute group returns with a new show featuring the whole of two of the Floyd's best-loved albums - The Dark Side of the Moon and Wish You Were Here.

In the concrete heart of Harlow, a group of artists are drawing inspiration from the new town's architecture.

Gatehouse Arts Studios and Gallery is a creative hub where 60 diverse artists hone their craft and present their work.

Artists agree the studios, occupying much of the space in West Gate, and the gallery, prominently placed in East Gate, are well kept secrets about to be shared.

"One of the reasons I moved to Harlow from Yorkshire is that I was interested in new towns, their planning and design," said Richard Sobey.

From his East Gate studio, the 55-year-old creator is producing graphics, objects and modern designs that show the town in a way never seen before.

"There was a really big campaign with the arts in Harlow as soon as the town was born and that fascinated me. Harlow has what I think is quite a fantastic collection of art and artists.

"Moving here has been better than I expected," he added.

"I have met lots of people from different backgrounds and my enthusiasm has grown as I have found lots of opportunities."

Computer graphic artist Gerry Parnham has concentrated on his bright and highly intricate works since retiring as a research physicist.

The 65-year-old feels the progression of his works would not have been possible if it was not for his studio space in Gatehouse Arts, but he is unsure about what the future holds.

"I have been here for five years and there is a lot of stuff that has been produced in the studio," he said.

"Art has always been a hobby. Ever since computers were invented I have used them to make pictures. The thought of my art being sold is a nice one and it is a reasonable ambition for me.

"I would like to have my own exhibition at Gatehouse Arts gallery. It would not be this year, but it might be possible next year."

Gerry is encouraging of the gallery's latest showcase The Photographer's Eye Open 2016, which presents an opportunity for anyone in Harlow have their camera skills exhibited.

After four judges whittled down scores of entries into the free competition, the work of the finalists now hangs inside the East Gate gallery.

Members of the public have until Sunday to peruse the photos and vote for their favourites. A prime spot in the window will be the prize of the winner, while all works are up for sale - ranging in price from £15 to more than £2,000.

Amanda Westbury is a ceramic artist with a studio at Gatehouse but she finds more often she is taking care of the organisational side of the gallery.

"This is the third year we have run this exhibition and it has grown every time in participation numbers," she said, admiring the work in the gallery.

"It has been well received. I think it is important that there is somewhere that is free for the public to come into, have a look around and enjoy art. There are some great conversations."

Amanda said the collective at Gatehouse is one of the largest in Essex, if not the country - and said the key to helping art develop in the town centre is through co-operation.

"I am quite involved in promoting the art in Harlow. There is a feeling that the public do not care about it in the town. However, as an experiment, we covered some town centre sculptures in a project called Harlow Wraps to see if people would notice.

"The response was incredible and it shows that people really do notice what is there."

town's world of art

RICHARD SOBEYS

Harvey Centre, said joined up thinking is key to safeguarding culture in a historically arts-focused town.

"Rome was not built in a day and investment in the arts is still arriving," he said.

"We own the properties for Gatehouse and do our best to support them. We're encouraged to bring arts to the town as it can help to change how the town is perceived."

Richard and Gerry both agreed that more work is needed to be done, but there is potential to turn Harlow into the culturally booming town they want it to be.

Gerry said: "As to whether the residents (of Harlow) appreciate it I'm not sure, but it is important to keep trying."

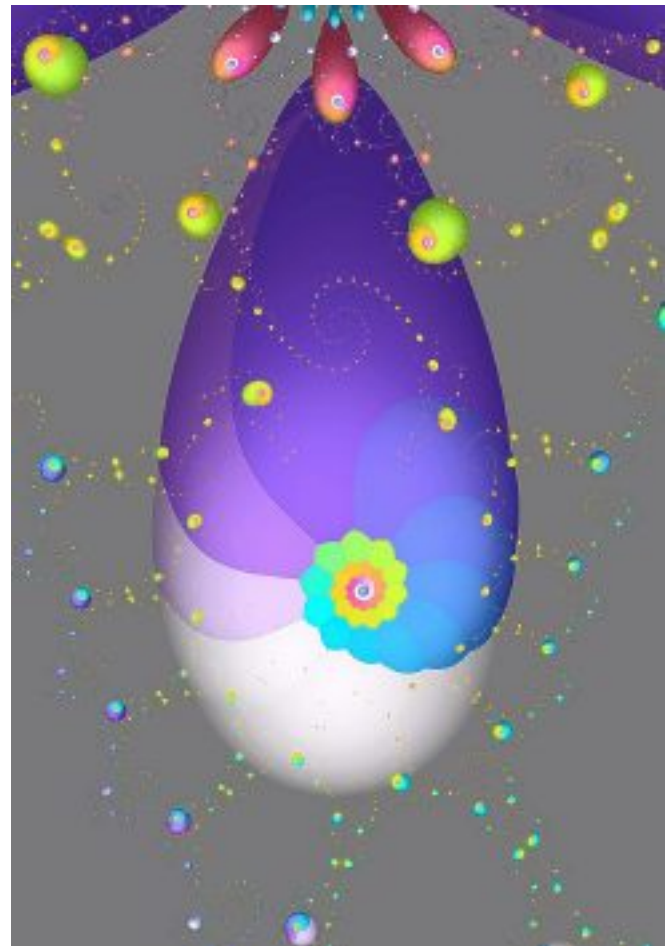

"I think we could be more public then we are. The problem in Harlow could be down to money and I guess art is not a priority for residents. It is down to us to make art reach out to people."

Richard added: "I feel a Harlow arts festival would be a good idea. In other towns across the UK, they have proved very successful to the local economy and it gets the community more engaged."

"I would question any artist who said the public are not engaged. It is up to us to get people to take their first step into art, and I think it would be good to make use of the large open spaces in Harlow to hold a festival."

"Moving to Harlow has focused my work much more clearly in the issues of town design and placement."

Audience betrayed by play

THE audience at Victoria Hall Theatre was entertained rather than thrilled by Harlow Theatre's Company's rendition of a Harold Pinter classic.

Despite its nine scenes playing out in reverse order Betrayal is a remarkably simple production, or at least by Pinter's standards.

Set initially in 1977, the year when the play was written, we meet adulterous lovers Emma and Jerry in the pub as they catch up two years after ending their affair.

As the plot unfolds the audience is taken gradually back to 1968 with Emma's husband and Jerry's best friend Robert providing the third lead.

For a play that director Dolleen Howlett insisted was not a comedy there are a lot of funny moments as the three pointlessly complicate their lives through deceit and mind games.

A highlight is Jerry's desperate attempt to decipher at which point he had been found out. "I didn't know that you didn't know I didn't know that you knew," he cries pathetically early on.

Robert's hideous shirts remind you the play is approaching its 40th birthday, but Betrayal is depressingly relevant in its comment on middle class attitudes and marriage in general.

It is a trademark of Pinter to conjure up these self-absorbed characters and the reverse chronology places the joke firmly on them as one can see their schemes fall through before they are planned.

The reverse telling makes the play an absorbing watch of wondering 'how did it happen' but it does consequently miss out on the thrill of what is coming next.

Kevin Smith gives a strong turn as Jerry and Leo Appleton and Alyssa Upton are solid as the two leads, but there is an element of feeling missing in the performances.

One is not expected to sympathise with the characters, but the absence of the performances is such that their fate is of little interest. The set design is also uninspiring, although there is fun to be had in a restaurant scene where Paul Stephenson provides a nice cameo as a waiter.

The result is a solid directorial debut for Dolleen Howlett and an absorbing play that was deserving of more than the half-empty theatre it was performed in front of.

But while it aims to be subtle, Betrayal lacks a certain spark to really capture the imagination.

Three stars.

REVIEW

FILMGUIDE

THE recent BBC adaptation of The Night Manager was a delicious reminder of writer John Le Carré's ability to wring nerve-shredding tension from spy games orchestrated by self-serving members of the British Secret Service.

Screenwriter Hossein Amini's adaptation of another Le Carré page turner, Our Kind Of Traitor, is perfectly timed to capitalise on the resurgent interest in the Dorset-born author and his expert dissection of MI6 practices.

Hinging on a chance encounter between a naive British everyman and a flashy East European powerbroker, Susanna White's film flits across international borders as it asks us to believe that a plummy academic would risk his humdrum life for a total stranger by virtue of his unshakeable goodness.

"Why are you still here?" the Russian criminal asks his stuffy saviour as they prepare to face a team of sharp-shooting assassins.

"I don't know," dryly responds the lecturer.

Nor do we and that frustrating lack of clarity about the lead character's motivation proves the film's undoing as the cogs of a serpentine plot click neatly into place, setting up the inevitable final showdown that decides if virtue or vice emerges unscathed from the melee.

University lecturer Perry Makepeace (Ewan McGregor) and barrister girlfriend Gail (Naomie Harris) are on holiday in Marrakesh, hoping to salvage their relationship after his indiscretion.

At a bar, they encounter rowdy Russian businessman Dima Krasnov (Stellan Skarsgård), who unexpectedly takes Perry into his confidence and secretly gives the academic a flash drive to deliver to British intelligence with the instruction that it is "a present from the number one money launderer in Moscow".

British agent Hector Meredith (Damian Lewis) and colleague Luke Weaver (Khalid Abdalla) take delivery of the flash drive at Heathrow, which contains evidence implicating MP Aubrey Longrigg (Jeremy Northam) in a money-laundering scam masterminded by sadistic Russian mobster The Prince (Grigoriy Dobrygin).

Hector's direct superior Billy Matlock (Mark Gatiss) refuses to sanction an official operation, but Hector ploughs on regardless, since he harbours a private grudge against the politician.

Unfortunately, there is a caveat to smuggling Dima to the UK as an informant.

"He will only deal with us if you and Gail are there," Hector explains to Perry.

Thus the lecturer and his sweetheart become globe-trotting pawns in a deadly game of espionage alongside Dima's

Director: Susanna White
Starring: Ewan McGregor, Stellan Skarsgård, Damian Lewis, Naomie Harris, Mark Gatiss, Khalid Abdalla, Jeremy Northam, Saskia Reeves

Anchored by Skarsgård's eye-catching portrayal of a family man with a twisted moral code, Our Kind Of Traitor simmers pleasantly, but never turns up the heat sufficiently on McGregor and Harris' do gooders.

White choreographs some memorable interludes, including a hallucinogenic party where one naked lovely trots around an opulent house on horseback, but protracted chase sequences aren't particularly suspenseful.

Amini's script telegraphs its intentions, sustaining dramatic momentum, if not the vice-like tension we crave.

Geoffrey Matthew

YOU ARE INVITED TO JOIN US TO CELEBRATE
THE OPENING OF OUR NEW HARLOW OFFICE
CHAMPAGNE RECEPTION

*Saturday
14th May*

The local MP, Robert Halfon, will open Geoffrey Matthew Estates' new office at "The Gables", 1 Fore Street, Old Harlow at 10am on Saturday 14th May, with the champagne. Coffee and cake will also be served for our Macmillan coffee morning.

Onwards and UPWARDS

A champagne reception is a fine way to celebrate a momentous occasion, and that's exactly how one of Harlow's estate agents is marking the opening of its new office this month.

Although the relocation of Geoffrey Matthew Estates' branch is only a few doors uphill from its present base on Old Harlow High Street, to the corner of Fore Street and London Road, it's a step into a new era for the business.

But why make a move from what has been their second home in the town since the company was established in 1993?

"We've been fortunate to have the opportunity to take on this historical building in one of the most prominent positions of Old Harlow," says Managing director, Matt Dixon

The process of acquiring and refurbishing the new premises has taken six months in all, with an emphasis on blending the history of the building with the modern requirements of an estate agency; "We have created our own stamp, which is a contrast of old and new," adds Matt.

Working in partnership with planners, the team at Geoffrey Matthew Estates has carefully restored the building, where the fine craftsmanship of the timbers date back over seven centuries.

The process of transforming the building, which has most recently been used as an Italian restaurant, and has in the past been a toll office for the London to Bishop's Stortford bridleway, into a modern estate agents' office, has been documented by the Geoffrey Matthews team.

The photographs of the transformation are on display for those who drop into the office to see for themselves.

You'd imagine an office move would take up the entire schedule of a company director in the preceding weeks, yet that's not been the only hectic activity Matt has been involved in recently.

Just a few days ago, he completed the Coast2Coast Challenge; a walk from one side of the country to another, covering just over 200 miles in a 12-day period.

With his companion, Heath Greenall, the Managing Director of local car dealership chain Gates, Ford, Matt trekked from St Bees on the Cumbrian coast, through the Lake District, the Yorkshire Dales and the North York Moors, before finishing at Robin Hood's Bay, a few miles south of Whitby.

No stranger to long-distance walks, Matt has previously travelled along the Camino Trail in Spain, as well as journeying across the Andes, all in the name of charity, and he shows no sign of stopping his endeavours.

There's little time for Matt and his colleagues to rest up, as the office relocation brings new challenges for the business.

"Whilst enjoying working in 47 High Street, our progression has lead us to move on to bigger and better things," he reflects; "The spectacular new premises are very home-like to work within, and it will open further opportunities."

Like the memories we make in our own homes, the staff have their own anecdotes of the workplace they are leaving behind.

"Our adventures in High Street have seen high and lows," Matt says; "We have collected one of the finest property teams, but sadly, we have outgrown our own suite."

The local MP, Robert Halfon, will open Geoffrey Matthew Estates' new office at "The Gables", 1 Fore Street, Old Harlow at 10am on Saturday 14th May, with the champagne. Coffee will also be served from 10am as well.

On the same day, coffee will be served at 10am, with all proceeds going to Macmillan Cancer Support; and it's hoped this will add more money to the just under £17,000 (including Gift Aid) the company has raised so far this year for Macmillan and cancer research combined.

Once the champagne and coffee are consumed, it's back to the day job for the team at Geoffrey Matthew Estates in their new surroundings.

SEE YOU ON Saturday
14th May

The local MP, Robert Halfon, will open Geoffrey Matthew Estates' new office at "The Gables", 1 Fore Street, Old Harlow at 10am on Saturday 14th May, with the champagne.

"Whilst enjoying working in 47 High Street, our progression has lead us to move on to bigger and better things," he reflects; "The spectacular new premises are very home-like to work within, and it will open further opportunities."

says Managing director, Matt Dixon

Harlow Branch

YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20

I know you want to impress those with the power, but you also have to work on balancing your personal life this week, which your stars show you have been neglecting. Plan your week and don't let others deter you from your intentions. You can tie up several loose ends to your advantage if you maintain control. Ring now to hear why manners are essential this weekend.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21

A change in the family may come as a shock to you, but will turn out to be a blessing for all concerned. Try not to have too much of an opinion if you don't yet know all of the facts or you could cast yourself as biased and old fashioned. Scorpios provide an ear for you to share your worries and some good solutions too. Ring now so I can tell you about tomorrow today.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 349 65p per minute

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21

New information comes to light which allows you to better understand why a close one has been acting so distantly in the last few days and weeks. Try to stick to midweek appointments as it can, and will, make all the difference to whether or not you impress those who can take your career to the next level, as well as your finances. Ring now to hear how love links to white lies you'll be telling.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 350 65p per minute

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22

The home comes under the spotlight and you may find yourself having to pay out money for things you had hoped could be covered by a third party. Don't cut corners, as what you will be doing is investing in your long term security. A surprise split in your circle forces you to question your own situation in life. Ring now so I can help you work out what and who your sign really needs.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23

I can see that there don't seem to be enough hours in the day for you recently and stress which does one have to put under has made it hard for you to see the wood for the trees, so to speak. Use Monday and Friday for heart to hearts with those involved when your amiable demeanour will make them more than willing to come round to your way of thinking. Ring now for the full story.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22

There are so many new faces entering your life over the coming days, that it may be hard for you to see who is good for you and who would be a bad influence on your future. You like to have a mix of characters in your life, so try to keep an open mind. It can teach you much about what makes the rest of the zodiac tick my friend. Ring now to hear how an ex is predicted to make contact.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

Don't let problems which have developed between you and a close one get any worse, but work instead on building up your relationship Libra. You know you have plenty of positive reasons to make an effort, so don't let those who are looking for dramatics convince you otherwise. Fellow Librans link to an intriguing new work path. Call me right now for more answers.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 354 65p per minute

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21

You have been doing so much for other people, but it's time you started doing something for yourself this week Scorpio. You see my friend, you'll be crossing paths with people who can enhance your life and light up your heart, so make sure you have a priority. You'll be shaping the destiny of your dreams by your actions now. Ring me so I can explain in full what I see.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 355 65p per minute

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20

You start to look at life from a fresh perspective and you are no longer worried about how things seem to these watching. You spent much of the beginning of this month trying to fit in. No more. From Sunday you begin to feel your way through each day and situation. A surprise confession makes life more interesting. Ring now so I can tell you why Virgos are important to your month.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 356 65p per minute

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20

Try to be nice to all you meet and don't be rude or ignorant to those you don't know or it will have a domino effect on those you do care for. Someone is making you feel pressured to do something you don't want. Stand strong and stand up to them. You and I know you have the ability to dig your heels in when it's required. Ring now to hear which sign I think has been using you lately.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19

You may have to work with those you don't like or even respect, but there will be method to this madness Aquarius, as you'll be proving to those with power what a true professional you are. A new attraction may require you rethink what you thought you wanted from your future. Embrace your feelings, don't be ashamed of them. Ring now so I can help you to be proud to be you.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20

You are beginning a really exciting new chapter of your life where you no longer feel influenced by family and friends, but you're the one in the driving seat. You've come a long way and many of your sign have come out of toxic situations to become stronger people. A new circle of friends does much for your ego. Harlow secure play-off triumph

ANOTHER Harlow team completed a significant play-off final victory – as Harlow Hawks Basketball Club triumphed in their end-of-season battle.

Harlow beat Southend Scorpions twos 74-66 in a tight Essex County League Division Two encounter in Benfleet.

Having already won the Division Two title the Hawks now have two cups to polish. Hawks led 13-7 after only five minutes. Shab Niaz, Danny Cohen and Tom White all shot back-to-back three-pointers.

Hawks led 22-15 at the end of the first quarter, but Scorpions went on a 12-2 run to close the gap heading into the second half.

The match was turning out to be a thriller.

Harlow pushed on in the third quarter and opened up an 11-point lead, but Scorpions continued to apply the pressure with a couple of three pointers.

Niaz and Haddow combined for 16 points as Hawks blasted in 28 points.

Heading into the last quarter, Hawks led 58-45.

White's seven points ensured Harlow kept ahead, despite a Scorpions' fightback.

Niaz said: "It was a great match enjoyed by players, officials and spectators alike. Hawks were deserved winners and can celebrate a stunning debut season in the Essex County League. Well done Harlow Hawks."

HARLOW: Haddow 14, Niaz 13, White 11, Norkeliunas 8, Allan 7, Haddow 7, Cohen 6, Hawkins 5, Burgess 3, Whytock 0, Morris 0, Friedner 0.

Chairman's delight at fan support

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS chairman John Barnett admitted he was shocked at the level of support for the club in the play-off matches – and it has given him huge optimism that the club can go as high as the Football League in the future.

A bumper crowd turned out at The Harlow Arena for the play-off semi-final against Cray Wanderers, but that figure was eclipsed by the 1655 who turned out for the final against AFC Hornchurch, when Harlow Town sealed promotion to the Ryman Premier.

Barnett said: "They are wonderful supporters. If they can come out for a play-off on a Sunday and a Bank Holiday weekend, there's no reason why they can't come and support us when we are in the premier division."

"I want to take this team and bring in new players next year – which we will – and take this team into the Conference league."

"There's no two ways in my mind. We have got the ground and we have got the supporters. I can extend those stands and I'm very happy to do that, but we need some people in here."

Barnett, a former director at North London giants Spurs, came on board as chairman when he rescued it from the brink of liquidation and pumped in hundreds of thousands of pounds to rebuild it.

Heart

The chairman says the club has a special place in his heart and was a regular sight at matches even back more than ten years ago when his business partner and close friend, now Hawks chief executive Tom Cunningham, was first team manager.

He said: "The town have really got to support the club now. We need them as much as they need us."

"I want us to play in the Football League and I said to Tom [Cunningham] there's no reason why we can't."

"There's no reason why we can't play in Division Two, no reason at all. If you have got the right players and the right spirit, you have got the support that support you – you can go anywhere."

"There's no reason why we can't do what Stevenage have done. And while I'm here, more than ever now I want to do it."

"It really opened my eyes to see 1700 people here. When you play in a higher league they bring more supporters than some [Ryman North] teams."

"The higher you get – even if they bring three or 400 and we bring 500 – that's nearly a thousand people here and that helps finance better players."

"We will put it all back into the club. I have been here five years and I haven't earned a penny out of this club yet."

"The last two games have made me very, very proud. Ninety-nine per cent of the people wanted to kiss and hug me – and I did enjoy that."

Powell plays a blinder but Town feeling Gidea

Shepherd Neame Essex League Division Two

Harlow Town 190-8
Gidea Park & Romford . . 192-3
Gidea won by seven wickets

JAMAICAN clashed with Jamaican as two overseas players were on opposite sides as Harlow Town launched their league campaign.

It was a tricky opener away to one of the favourites for promotion at Gidea Park & Romford, who won by seven wickets.

Chris Powell made his Town debut after arriving from the Caribbean, and took two wickets, while notching 21 runs while batting at number five.

He was up against Gidea's former West Indies international all rounder Shawn Findlay.

Harlow Town captain, Gladwin, said: "I believe the margin of victory flattered Gidea Park somewhat."

"With Chris' extra pace, the guys behind the wicket need to work hard in practice to get used to the way he bowls, but I know we have a good side this year and am expecting us to have more good days than bad ones."

Gidea won the toss and inserted Town.

Town opener Shiraz Ali constructed 35 but wickets fell at regular intervals.

Joe Holland (27) came to the crease and put together a classy innings, dispatching any loose ball to the boundary with consummate ease.

His exit came when he tried to work Australian left arm seamer, Matt Connaughton, through the leg side.

Meanwhile, Findlay claimed three wickets.

Gladwin and Ali took Town to 89-3.

Wicket-keeper Pat Yates (37) and Powell gave some momentum.

Yates blazed five boundaries, while the Jamaican looked solid and selective in his approach, striking many a crisp shot along the floor.

But, Findlay then bowled his fellow countryman Powell.

Dan Farmer and Yates pushed the visitors close to 200, but this wasn't going to be enough to worry Gidea.

All at the ground were looking forward to watching speed merchant Powell bowl and they weren't disappointed.

The Jamaican ran in with purpose and accuracy as he frequently beat the bat and bowled with great control and hostility.

This accuracy led to opener Kasi Hoq inside edging a quick delivery from Powell, but this wasn't taken.

Powell broke a key partnership when his pace was too much for Zisan Abedine, who chopped on to his stumps for 32. Elliot Joiner was caught at mid wicket by Holland off Powell for 18 and Gidea were 126-3.

However, Findlay (40 not out) and Hoq (66 not out), who survived another dropped catch later on, finished the run chase with 3.1 overs remaining.

Town host Leigh on Sea on Saturday, the only team the Phoenix Park men completed a league double over last year.

239 not out!

HARLOW fifth team skipper Jack Sykes (pictured) hit an incredible 239 not out in his side's win over Hockerill thirdeens.

Sykes' club record score helped his side amass 395-2 in just 45 overs.

His opening partnership was 326 with Ben Yeats scoring 68.

Hockerill were out for 126 (Myles Baldock, 3-16).

Benefactor's big role in new-look Marigolds

Former president's clubhouse vision turns into reality

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE £1million project to build a state-of-the-art new clubhouse at Harlow Cricket Club is starting to take shape.

Diggers moved in three weeks ago and the scheme, putting the clubhouse at the heart of the complex in Chippingfield, Old Harlow is expected to be completed by early October and in full operational use for the new cricket season in 2017.

Half a million pounds has come from Sport England to fund the project.

But the Marigolds club owe a massive debt to late former president Vince Dunn, who left it a six-figure sum in his will, specifically towards paying for this ambitious scheme.

Dunn was the landlord at the Marquis of Granby pub in Old Harlow for 39 years.

Fond

Although he never played for the cricket club, in his later years he became incredibly fond of it and was president for three seasons until his death in September 2005.

Harlow Cricket Club (HCC) committee member Christine Baxter said: "He enjoyed the fact that we helped younger people. We just want to keep encouraging young people to take part in sport and enjoy it. It's important as a small club that we do our best for them."

Along with operating five men's teams in the Shepherd Neame Essex League, the club caters for nearly 160 children from the ages of five up to 18.

Mrs Baxter has played a key role in securing the Sport England funding with the help of her husband Paul, also a coach at the club, and additional help from Essex County Cricket Club.

She emphasised the importance of the complex becoming a facility which is used by the whole community. This was at the heart of Sport England agreeing to half fund the development.

MAGNIFICENT SITE: Artist impressions show how the new site will look. (Inset) benefactor and former president Vince Dunn

Club president Alan Howick said: "It will serve the community of Old Harlow and it will be one of most substantial cricket facilities in the region. It will be open 365 days a year."

"Essex were very helpful and we are very grateful to them. We think we are one of the only clubs in Essex to achieve this level of funding from Sport England."

Mrs Baxter said keeping the neighbours on side was crucial and all were written to and invited to look at the club's plans.

"We are trying to minimise disruption in the local community. We have had lots of positive feedback," she said. "This will help maintain a green space."

Howick added: "The neighbours were anxious but we have been very supportive."

The new clubhouse will even offer a viewing gallery with state-of-the-art panels which ensures the cricketers will not miss a single minute of the action on either of the club's two main pitches.

"You will be able to watch two games of cricket at the same time should you wish," said Howick.

The project has cost more than what a normal clubhouse would have cost to construct because it has been built on virgin land and a lot of preparation work has had to go into making the foundations strong enough to deal with a building of this size (it measures 450ft square and 29metres by 15m).

Among the modern aspects to the eco-friendly design include special slit windows. "This is so the cricketers can look out when they are putting on their pads - you don't have that at Lord's," beamed Howick.

The original clubhouse was built after the end of the Second World War. This will be demolished at the end of the 2016 season.

But the scoreboard building, which doubles as the groundsman's storage facility, will remain in its present location as this dates back to Victorian times.

The new development could attract new members who want to use the modern site. "We actually need coaches to look after them. We are at our ultimate capacity, so we need more people to help us," Howick added.

Eastern Champs' joy for Penguins

HARLOW Penguins took a squad of 12 to the East Region Swimming Championships in Norwich.

Eight girls (Celeste Andrew, Georgina Pryor, Megan Cook, Lauren Nelson, Meg Wickham, Caitlin Mascall, Kirsty Vears and Olivia Holleyman) and four boys (Lee Baker, Bradley Veitch, Hayden Thomas and Mason Arnold) competed in the tournament.

Top Penguins performer was Georgie Pryor, who after her recent Olympic trials, dominated the 17 and over butterfly events, winning the 100m event by almost three seconds in 1min 02.53sec and then producing a fast 27.60 to claim the 50m butterfly title.

Georgie also claimed a bronze medal in the 200m individual medley (IM) in 2:26.02 and finished fifth in the 100m freestyle in 59.94sec.

Celeste Andrew was third in the 50m butterfly, improving dramatically after qualifying sixth for the final. It was her first regional medal in a personal best (PB) time of 30.47sec.

Penguins' other medallist on the weekend was Hayden Thomas, swimming in the 50m breaststroke he claimed the bronze medal in a PB of 30.88.

Hayden had an outstanding weekend, setting best times in the finals of the 200m breaststroke (2:36.09) and 100m breaststroke (1:09.13) when finishing sixth.

Scintillating

In the girls' 16 year age group, Meg Wickham and Caitlin Mascall both got to finals in the 50m, 100m and 200m breaststroke events after scintillating races.

In the 200m breaststroke, Caitlin was fourth in a time of 2:58.56 and Meg's time of 3:00.07 secured sixth.

In the 50m event, Caitlin was seventh (37.61) and Meg eighth (38.34).

In their last event of the weekend, the 100m breaststroke, Meg was sixth in 1:22.58 and Caitlin was seventh (1:22.65).

Lee Baker produced his fastest 50m freestyle time of 24.99 in claiming fourth place in the final and set a PB of 55.15 in the 100m freestyle.

Bradley Veitch was sixth in the 17 & over 200m freestyle final in 2:01.94 and set a PB of 2:18.73 in the men's 200m butterfly to take sixth in the final.

Mason Arnold was eighth in 2:20.52.

Also in the 200m butterfly events, swimming in the girls' 16 year age group was Megan Cook, who finished seventh in 2:41.46.

Penguins certainly showed it has strength in depth in the senior men's events.

Chasing a National Qualifying Time, the 17 & over men's 4x100m freestyle relay team of Hayden Thomas (56.04), Bradley Veitch (55.70), Mason Arnold (56.16) and Lee Baker (54.10) produced a great finish and just missed out on a bronze medal, finishing fourth.

Rouge into the history books

ROUGE Returns have made history by winning an incredible quintet of trophies.

Following on from their Essex Premier Cup victory - the first time in 20 years a Harlow team have achieved this feat - last weekend they won the Harlow & District Sunday Football League Cup.

Then on Monday, nearest rivals Maiden decided to fold so Rouge (pictured left) cannot be caught and were declared Premier Division champions.

Co-manager Peter Lucia beamed: "I've won four trophies with Alemite (a Saturday team), but never five."

"We've won 35 out of 35 [games] - it has been a cracking season. I don't think it's ever been done in Essex before. It's a massive achievement and credit to the boys and everybody involved in the club."

But Rouge certainly left it late to beat rivals Parsloe at the ProKit UK Stadium, home of Bishop's Stortford FC.

An 88th-minute winner from Ricky Cook secured the silverware.

Earlier, man-of-the-match Danny Norton gave Rouge the lead when he rounded the Parsloe keeper.

It was 2-0 on the hour when Norton struck again.

Charlie Burns halved the deficit, before Terry Foscett made it 2-2.

However, Cook lobbied the Parsloe stopper with two minutes remaining to secure victory.

Run chase falters right at the death

Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League Division One
Loughton 226-6
Harlow 218-8
Match drawn

SKIPPER Rehman Ahmed bemoaned Harlow's inability to get their Division One campaign off to a winning start.

The Marigolds men ended up with a draw against Loughton, but the hosts were tantalisingly close to victory, requiring 13 off the last seven balls.

Harlow skipper Rehman said: "The game left a slight sour taste, getting so close to winning, similar to how last season went.

"We did all the hard work but fell at the last hurdle. However, there are many positives to take out of the game and it took us to a winning situation, so the focus is on that."

Nick Baxter got the hosts off to a great start by superbly bowling Keiran Scarlioni (1).

Wickets were hard to come by on a good batting track, but with Loughton on 86, Luke Heskett got a vital breakthrough when the influential Vikrant Venkatesan (33) nicked one to wicket-keeper Alan Jones.

Identical

Heskett then had John Mills (42) caught behind by Jones.

With the score on 179 Rehman caught Loughton skipper Bilal Butt off Monger for 38.

Soon after, Hafiz Yawar had Mahmud Khail (64) caught in the deep by Harlow's impressive league debutant Ubaid Kiani.

Hafiz and Monger bowled some excellent overs at the death to limit the visitors to 226.

Jones (0) and Hafiz (14) were both dismissed LBW and the hosts were 15-2 in reply.

But the captain blasted a fantastic 92 from 91 balls (three sixes and 11 fours).

Ahmed Khawaja (30) chipped in and when Rehman was bowled by Butt, the hosts were 143-4.

Ubaid (31) and Baxter (40) took them close to victory.

With 13 needed off seven balls Heskett was run out, and in the final over Ubaid was dismissed, before Harlow saw the last few balls out to secure a draw.

Rehman added: "We are away to Woodford Wells next week. We'll look to play the same way, with the same intensity just pushing harder for that all important win."

SUPER FANS KEY TO PROMOTION

Striker Read says Hawks' 12th man crucial to going up

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

STRIKER Alex Read paid tribute to the Hawks fans, who he acclaimed as one of the main reasons why the club secured promotion.

Read, 27, who has 132 goals for Harlow and is 68 behind the all-time Hawks record held by Marc Salmon, set up the crucial second goal for Piers Wixon in the 3-1 Ryman North play-off final win against AFC Hornchurch.

But his goals were key to securing a play-off place in the second half of the season.

Nearly 1700 packed The Harlow Arena for the final, including around 200 Urchins supporters.

Read said: "Our fans are the best fans in non-league by a country mile. The last time I played in front of that was at AFC Wimbledon.

"For us to have that amount of fans supporting us - they were like a 12th man.

"They were as important as everyone's performance."

Read (pictured right) had lost in the play-offs twice with Harlow and also with Brentford.

He said: "That's my fifth year in the play-offs. I keep saying every year eventually we will go up."

Incredible

"We had a little blip and that probably cost us automatic promotion. We only finished six points off what we finished on last year."

Read knows Harlow were good enough to win the title, but paid the price for a hangover from the previous season, when they amassed 102 points but were pipped by Needham Market for the Ryman North championship.

They then suffered a heart-breaking loss to bogey side Thurrock in the play-off semi-final.

The striker said: "You look at last year and we had an incredible season, but this year I thought the league was harder than it was last year."

"This team has enough experience going into play-offs to know how to win. There is so much desire in this team."
